Judge Howell yesterday heard arguments in the case of the Ogden Sewer Pipe & Clay company against L. C. Kelsey and Ogden City. The particular phase of the case was on the application for an order restraining Ogden from paying for certain contract work done for the city, on the ground that the clay company had not been paid for its material. Judge Howell refused to grant a restraining order on the ground that the piaintiff did not have a lien on the work.

ogden, Utah, Feb. 24.-In the case of paniel Hamer against J. Albert Howell, he judgeship contest case, yesterday morning the counting of ballots was aid aside for the examination of some g witnesses. The witnesses were examined in relation to the objections of the contestee's attorneys to the recounting of the ballots of 11 different districts of Weber county, where the sals had been found to be loose or the ewelopes worn through at the edges. Through all the proceedings the attormys for Howell have taken care to bring out the fact that various persons had access to the vault where the balbad access to the value where the bar-los were kept. It was shown that pewspapermen, abstractors and attor-peys frequently went in there in search of dats, and that sometimes they were get alan, and that sometimes they were if alone in the vault. Judge Powers and C. C. Richards, the attorneys for Hamer, therefore sprung a mild sensition by calling to the stand the attorneys for Howell and Howell himself and interogating them on the question whether they had been in the habit of safering the vault, and if they saw the ballots there; also if they opened any of the packages, if they handled the billots, or if they knew who had. Practially every member of the Ogden bar was placed on the witness stand; also all the newspaperinen, and the abstracter as well as the deputy clerks. The questions asked were such as the witness.
